The sinuous S-shaped form of Sackler Crossing appears to hover just above the surface of the lake at the Royal Botanic Gardens of Kew

Our lighting treatment for the bridge is simple, understated, and in tune with the mercurial and in tune with the mercurial nature of the design. It allows the bridge to reflect in the water, and in turn, the water to reflect into the solid bronze uprights that form the balustrade of the bridge.

To achieve the smooth shimmering effect we were after, we rnering eriect we were ariet, we created a custom uplight that was recessed in the bridge deck at either side, between each bronze upright. These gently illuminate the inner surfaces of the uprights, as well as reflecting light onto both the deck and peo-nic crossing the sand. Through ple crossing the span. Through our careful design, the source visibility is minimized and the fitting itself effectively disappears into its environment.
